NEW PITCHER WINS HIS FIRST GAME BY 2 TO 1

Barham, the newly acquired Ogden twirler, and Red Toner mixed up in another pitcher's battle at Glenwood yesterday, and the score was the same as on Thursday, two to one for Ogden. This Barham certainly looks like a real pitcher. He had just arrived in Ogden yesterday morning from the low altitude of the Pacific coast, and considering this fact, his performance on the mound was little short of marvellous. With a few days in which to acclimatize he will be unbeatable. Red Toner also pitched great ball but his own wild heave in the ninth was in a great measure responsible for the winning run.

Yesterday's win puts Ogden within one game of the second half pennant. There are now eight more games to be played and the Cannons need but one of these to clinch the bunting. With the Salt Lake team in its present crippled condition and the Ogden players going at their present rate, it seems impossible for the Sea Gulls to take the next eight games in a row.

Salt Lake suffered another injury yesterday when Dutch Auer, the former Murrayite, threw his arm out, pegging to third. Tonneman is on the sick list and the Salt Lake directors sent out an S. O. S. call for an emergency backstop. An effort is being made to secure the services of Carl Lewis who is captain of the late lamented Butt team.

The lone run that appears in the Salt Lake half of the score came as a result of Galena's scratch hit in the first inning. The ball took a bad bound and Galena was safe at first. He stole second and Raedel's peg was so wild that Galena came all the way home on it. The nerve of the Ogden catcher was demonstrated when he let the Sea Gull runner slide into him feet first without flinching. Be it here mentioned that Johnny hasn't touched that plate yet. The run was awarded to him because Raedel, seeing that he had no chance to tag the runner, held him and forcibly restrained him from crossing the pan.

The score was tied in the fourth when Cobb drew a pass, stole second, went to third on Risberg's out and scored on DeMaggio's single. Both teams threatened many times during the remainder of the game but splendid pitching cut off all chances to score until the ninth. After Risberg went to sleep and struck out in this frame, DeMaggio hit a slow bouncer to Toner. The pitcher had all the time in the world but, in his eagerness, heaved the ball about ten feet over first and Nick reached second. Sawyer adjusted his sights, took a good look at the ball and planted it where it would do the most good—midway between first and second—and the game was over when DeMaggio scored from second.

EXPECTS TO TACK FIVE MORE YEARS ON HIS LONG BASEBALL CAREER

Brooklyn, N. Y., Aug. 14.—Today's game between Brooklyn and Philadelphia was a mixture of tragedy and comedy. Three players were severely injured, the two teams divided eleven errors, pitchers came and went with remarkable regularity and the umpires were almost continually in trouble before Philadelphia finally beat Brooklyn in a ninth-inning finish by 8 to 7.

O'Mara broke his left leg in two places in a collision with Killifer at the plate in the first inning. Daubert sprained his ankle sliding to second base and Luderus hurt his kneecap badly by running into the iron railing of the grand stand going after a foul fly.

The Score: R. H. E. Philadelphia 8 13 7 Brooklyn 7 12 4 Batteries—Rickey, Marshall, Tincup and Killifer; Steele, Schmutz, Allen and Miller.

Pittsburg, Pa., Aug. 14.—Pittsburg defeated Cincinnati here today 8 to 7, although the home team only made eight hits off Pitchers Douglas, Yingling and Schneider; the visitors had red McQuillan, O'Toole and Harmon for a total of fifteen hits.

The Score: R. H. E. Cincinnati 7 15 3 Pittsburg 8 7 2 Batteries—Douglas, Yingling, Schneider and Clarke, Gonzales; McQuillan, O'Toole, Harmon and Coleman.

Kansas City, Aug. 14.—Kansas City came from behind in the seventh inning, scored four runs and won today's game from Baltimore by 6 to 5.

The Score: R. H. E. Baltimore 5 9 2 Kansas City 6 9 3 Batteries—Wilhelm, Conley and Jacklitich, Cullop, Adams and Eastery.

Chicago, Aug. 14.—Knetzer's tightness in pinches was the main factor in Pittsburg's 5 to 3 victory over Chicago Federals today.

The Score: R. H. E. Pittsburg 5 10 2 Chicago 3 9 2 Batteries—Knetzer and Berry; Prendergast, Fliske and Wilson.

St. Louis, Mo., Aug. 14.—A series of singles gave Brooklyn three runs in the ninth and enabled the visitors to turn the tables on St. Louis today, defeating the locals by 5 to 3.

The Score: R. H. E. Brooklyn 5 7 2 St. Louis 3 7 0 Batteries—Bluejacket, Seaton and Land; Davenport, Brown and Simon.

YESTERDAY'S GAMES

AMERICAN LEAGUE

Philadelphia, Aug. 14.—Washington broke Philadelphia's winning streak by winning today's game, 2 to 1. The home team had previously won seven games straight and twenty-four out of the previous twenty-six contests. Johnson was invincible in the pinches. Three times he closed an inning by fanning a batsman with a runner on second base, these batsmen being Collins, Baker and Bressler. Johnson knocked a home run in the third inning, and the run which decided the contest was scored in the sixth on Gandil's double and Morgan's single. Ryan and Williams were ordered off Washington's benches for objecting to a decision by Umpire Evans.

The Score: R. H. E. Washington 2 8 3 Philadelphia 1 9 0 Batteries—Johnson and Alnsmith; Bressler and Lapp.

Cleveland, O., Aug. 14.—Detroit turned the tables on Cleveland today, winning by a score of 8 to 4. Steen was driven from the slab after having been a puzzle for four innings. Daus was ineffective at the start,

HONUS WAGNER IN ACTION.

Is old Honus Wagner thinking of quitting the game and retiring for a well earned rest after a long and active career? Not at all, says he, not at all. He expects to stick with the National Game for a full five years yet and what is more he has hopes of again heading the list of names backed up against the batting averages. To any fan who can remember when Old Honus first hit the diamond there seems but little possibility of his hanging on for another five years.

"I know no one will believe I'll be able to hold my place for another five years," says Wagner, "so the only thing for me to do is to go in and show 'em." For the silent Honus Wagner this is saying a good deal. When he's on a baseball diamond, strangely enough, this old player feels that he's there to play ball and not to give lectures to the sporting writers.

With Mathewson and LaJoie, Wagner shares the honor of being one of the real veterans of baseball.

DUPLICATING THE HAL CHASE CASE

Jake Daubert in Brooklyn Pursuing Same Tactics—Has Managerial Bee.

By MONTY.

New York, Aug. 15.—The "Hal Chase" case is being duplicated across the bridge from here in the camp of the Brooklyn National League club, if talk that leaks out from conversations among the players can be believed.

Remember the Hal Chase case? Chase is the fellow who undermined George Stallings back in 1910 and caused the Big Chief to be fired from the management of the New York Americans, his successor being none other than Chase himself. It will be recalled that, later on, after Chase had proved a failure and had been put down in the ranks again, Harry Wolverton became boss of the team. But Chase's managing bee kept buzzing in his bonnet and he is supposed to have used the same tactics as before in the effort to make Wolverton seem a boob.

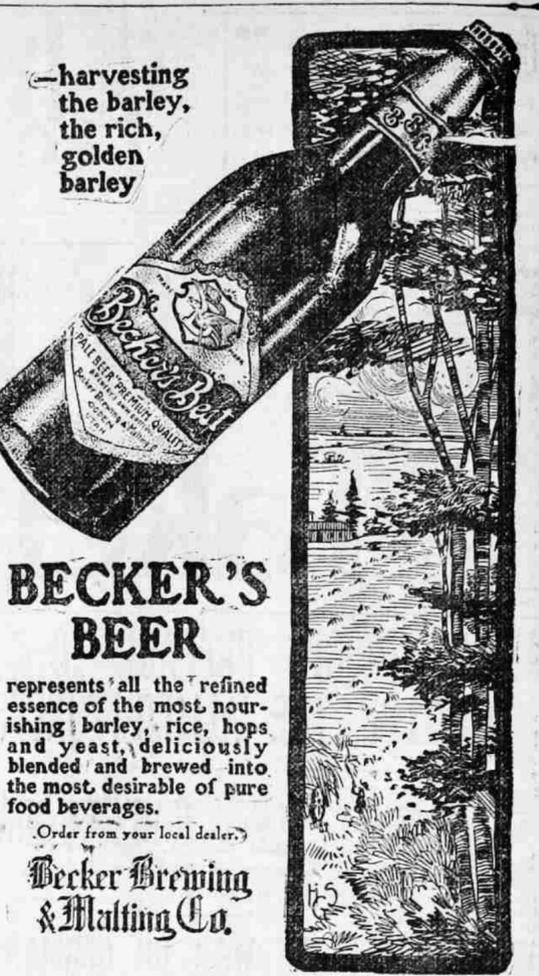

Chase "Laid Down on Job." Everybody knows Chase "laid down on the job" at first base, and he is believed also to have lined up his little clique again to do the same thing. Then Wolverton was fired when the Yankees were in the cellar. But Chase didn't get the job. Frank Chance got it. Chase inaugurated his same old tactics. Chance would not stand for them and traded Chase to the Chicago White Sox. Three Chase lined up Third Baseman Harry Lord and others in his machinations against Jimmy Callahan. The latter couldn't help hearing about it, and let Chase know that he was familiar with what was going on. Chase was skating on very thin ice when he finally jumped to the Buffalo Federals.

Over in Brooklyn the situation is almost the same. First Baseman Jake Daubert is the one with managerial ambitions. It is known beyond all doubt that he had his mind on the job at the head of the Dodgers when Bill Dahlen was holding it down. It is certain, however, that he did not "soldier on the job" last year, when he led the league in batting. As a matter of fact, there was no need for such methods, for the team was such a weak sister for so many years that Dahlen's demotion was only a question of time. When Dahlen finally was relieved of the leadership at the end of the season, Daubert thought surely he would get it.

Daubert Fails to Get Place. Several months of the off-season had passed by before President Ebbets of the Brooklyn club made any announcement of the new leader. Everybody or nearly everybody thought Daubert would be the man. But when the announcement was made at last, Wilbert Robinson, former assistant of John McGraw with the Giants, was the selection.

Daubert was plumed. His friends on the team took his side, and they have not been giving their best services for the new manager, with the result that the club, one which figures on paper to be somewhere among the first four, is down in the second division with a chance of finishing in the cellar. Robinson heard of what was occurring behind his back. The expected thing would be for him to show up the malcontents, but he did not do it. Instead he tried to keep it quiet, hoping he would be able to win these fellows around just by giving them such a square deal they would feel ashamed of themselves.

The machinations of his employees finally reached the ears of President Ebbets, who immediately assured

Robinson of his entire support, and he even went so far as to sign Robinson to a new contract covering a period of three extra years, doing this while the team was right in the depths of a disastrous slump.

Tex Erwin Released. Shortly after this, Catcher Tex Erwin, one of the Daubert sympathizers, was released outright, and then a week ago Third Baseman Red Smith was sold to the Boston Braves. Robinson is now the boss around Ebbets field. Absolute authority has been given him in the administration of the playing end of the club. And the players in general understand now that they will have to hustle or get out. Robinson, like all other major league managers, has been bothered of course this year by the part of the Federal league is playing. He can not command the proper respect under these conditions. Major league discipline has been more or less of a joke anyway. Players hold Federal league threats over the heads of their employers.

Pitchers Worst Offenders. Some of the worst offenders in the Brooklyn club, it is reported, are pitchers. Weak pitching has been one of the worst evils of the team, which is away down in the standing though it ranks first in batting and second in fielding. One pitcher in particular, who has proved a bitter disappointment, has been giving most of his outside attention to the Baseball Players' fraternity and the Brooklyn Feds. He is Ed Reubach, who is a vice president of Fluctuating Dave Fultz's union. He was taken off his high horse when the club obtained waivers on him. Then he came to time and pleaded for another chance, which was granted. Ebbets announced only last week that he had recalled waivers on Reubach.

How much of an active Daubert has played in the conspiracies against Robinson is not known, but suffice it to say that this crack first baseman who led the league in batting last year, also earned the automobile for being the most valuable ball player in the National League that season, stands no chance at all of receiving such honors this year. He is without a doubt the greatest first baseman in the game when he chooses to do his best.
